Schleswig-Holstein District
Scene Of Onslaught; Aerial

REPRISALS ARE PLEDGED

Government Says Churchill's Claims Of Advantages In North Unfounded

BERLIN, April 12—A British aerial attack on civilian areas in Schleswig-Holstein was charged by German authorities today, with immediate and drastic reprisals threatened.

British bombers attacked a small railway station and bombed a sports field in the northernmost German province just south of Denmark, it was charged.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A high official of the British air ministry promptly denied the German charges.)

Detonation of one bomb smashed the windows in the railway waiting room, it was asserted. While damage was small, German spokesmen emphasized that the attack was the first British onslaught against "German traffic installations."

"If this attempt is repeated," a spokesman said, "Germany will hold that a new situation has been created in the aerial warfare and will draw the appropriate consequences."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Aerial exchanges between Germany and Britain thus far have been confined to attacks on naval bases. In one recent Nazi raid on Scapa Flow, however, Britain charges that German planes dropped bombs on land, killing and injuring a number of civilians.)

First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill's report to the British Parliament on naval operations in Scandinavian waters was an "admission of Britain's political and military defeat" in the battle for possession of Norway. (Continued on Page Four)

BUT SPANIEL PROTESTS
INTRUSION ON PREMISES

Wilbur Brinker, of the Pickaway County Soil Conservation Association, was treated at the Walnut Township School Friday for a dogbite that he received early in the morning.

While gathering some conservation information at a nearby farm, he stopped to pat a large collie. As he patted the collie he was attacked by a small spaniel. Brinker was at his desk Friday with teeth marks in his leg and a torn trouser leg along with the information that he was after.

SWEDES REPORT NAVAL CONTEST

Allied, German Fleets In Action Near Entrance To Kattegat

STOCKHOLM, April 12—A naval battle of major proportions between the Allied and German fleets appeared to be in progress today off Oslofjord and at the northern entrance to the Kattegat.

From towns along the Western Swedish Coast came reports of lively activity at sea throughout the night, and for a time incessant gunfire that illuminated the sky with flame.

Heavy explosions were heard at sea by residents of the Swedish town of Stroemstad.

Residents said they saw small German vessels steaming away from an unidentified vessel which was sinking in flames. The sinking vessel was believed to be an oil tanker which either had been torpedoed or struck a mine.

At the same time, while the British navy sought to recapture Oslo from the Germans, Nazi warships carried out air raids near Marstrand. (Continued on Page Four)

MISTAKEN RAID ALARM SHRIEKS IN SWEDISH CITY

STOCKHOLM, April 12—An air raid alarm which lasted ten minutes was sounded in Gothenburg, Sweden today, but later was officially called a "mistake."

Authorities explained the alarm was sounded when planes appeared over the city but could not be identified immediately owing to poor visibility. Later it was ascertained the planes were patrolling Swedish aircraft, authorities said.

Reports received in Paris said the air raid alarm created a "tremendous effect on the population." Another was in jail.

According to these advises youths massed at various points in the city, prepared for immediate military service.

(Police attempted to calm the populace, the French reports added, by announcing the alarm resulted from erroneous identification of the planes.)

Tomorrow will be regular collection day for The Daily Herald carriers. Please have your change ready.

WITH the bloodless conquest of Denmark and the near subjugation of Norway, the German Reich has virtually been expanded by 6,500,000 persons and uncounted area in square miles. This would bring the number of persons now under Hitler's rule to 118,000,000 of which approximately 80,000,000 were citizens of Germany when the Nazis came to power.

'ACID' TEST LOOMS FOR NEW PARALLEL PARKING STATUTE

Instructions to the police department concerning enforcement of traffic laws during the week end were issued Friday by Safety Director Karl J. Herrmann, with the director stressing tolerance on the part of the police officers and cooperation on the part of motorists.

"We realize that we are facing a problem Saturday with the new parallel parking ordinance being enforced for the first big business day," the director said, "and we are taking steps to make the test as easy as possible for everyone."

Herrmann declared that he had ordered the two-hour parking limit in the uptown district enforced throughout the day and from Saturday on. Cars parked too long will be tagged, he declared.

He said also that an extra policeman would be added to the Main Street force Saturday to watch the parallel parking situation and to help handle traffic.

Herrmann said: "We intend to give visitors to Circleville every break possible."

Members of the Circleville official family are pointing out that with the parallel parking order being enforced there is room for double parking on both sides of Main Street without through traffic being bothered. He said that policemen will watch the double parking, giving shoppers a chance to obtain their goods and to get away without blocking travel in any respect.

This near paralysis of world merchant shipping gave rise to reports that an effort would be made to transfer the Scandinavian vessels to American registry. Under the Neutrality Act they would be forbidden to enter the prescribed combat zones but could continue operations to other unaffected ports.

Although it had previously been reported that the 4,000 Danish and Norwegian merchant ships were likewise ordered immobilized, there were indications that in areas remote from the war the question of continuing operations was left largely to masters of the vessels.

But Queen Rose and the princesses who comprise her court were advised to wear warm coats over their thin royal garments. The weather bureau predicted rain and steadily dropping temperature, although the blooming blossoms were not expected to suffer.

It was estimated that over 20,000 week end visitors will view the pink-flowering trees, with many more thousands due during the two weeks the blooms will last.

PICKFORD PLANS EARLY RETURN TO MOVIE WORK

STOCKHOLM, April 12—Decrepit taxicabs, wheezy autos and infirm vehicles of various categories today played their part in stemming the Nazi threat to Sweden. In serried ranks they "held" the Taslana Airport, near Gothenburg.

Fearful of a German "blitzkrieg" which would begin with the landing of German troops at the airport, Gothenburg officials filled every square yard of the flying field with wrecked "jalopies."

THE JAILED man was Raymond Glespen. He called on Patrolman Lawrence Gorman who asked some questions on his account, including Glespen's name. That resulted in a 30 day jail term for Glespen on a charge of non-support.

MISS PICKFORD
Mary Pickford, the actress, said today she was planning to re-enter the films after a seven year retirement.

"As soon as arrangements now under way are completed, I will be starred in a production. Rather I should say co-starred for there will be perhaps two or three well known actresses in the cast, as well as a prominent male star," Miss Pickford said.

RAIN AND WIND STORMS FORCE MERCURY DOWN

Temperature Slides To 25 Early Friday, Following Change In Weather

FRUIT IS ENDANGERED

Scioto Rises Five Feet In Last 24 Hours; Snow Covers Much Of State

What Circleville is calling its "shortest summer" came to an end Thursday night as icy blasts from the West came riding into town saddled on a 40-mile-an-hour wind following a torrential rain that raised the rainfall for the year another inch. The thermometer took a dizzy plunge from the high temperatures of last week to a low of 25 degrees Friday morning.

Motor transport trucks riding through Circleville Friday were snow-covered giving the city visual proof of the unseasonal snow storm that blanketed the Middlewest. The abrupt cold wave began to move East with terrific force as darkness fell and the mercury began its tobogganing at 6 p. m.

Covering the western part of the state with a thin sheet of ice the stinging snow and sleet storm made driving conditions hazardous, the highway patrol reported.

Extreme caution was urged although all roads remained open.

AIR TRAFFIC HALTED

The pounding rainfall grounded all air traffic, but planes were leaving airports late Friday. The wind grew stronger and brought on the snow storm of blizzard proportions.

Lake Erie ports reported sudden temperature falls and heavy snows. Lorain seemed to bear the brunt of the storm as the wind seemed to be concentrated on that point to spend itself in fury. All traffic ceased there at 10:30 p. m. as reports of a raging blizzard and heavily drifting snows were received by the highway patrol.

Lewiston, Montana, was said to be the coldest spot in the nation Thursday as a thermometer reading of -14 below zero was recorded.

MASSES OF DEAD SEEN IN WATERS IN WAR DISTRICT

STOCKHOLM, April 12—A dramatic description of a sea battle Wednesday off the Swedish port of Gothenburg was provided today by the master of the Swedish lifeboat "Justus Awaller," who said his craft nearly rammed a submarine.

"All afternoon," said the skipper, "I saw lively sea activity in the distance to the North—ships followed what was described as a line of eight or ten enemy vessels" in the Great Belt.

In the second raid, a 5,000-ton supply ship was believed damaged.

Simultaneously, British planes attacked a German sea-plane base on the Baltic Coast.

Announcement of these raids was made to counteract Nazi charges of the Schleswig-Holstein bombing.

Powder Kegs Formed

According to official British information, mines have been laid in areas transforming both the Skagerrak and Kattegat into veritable powder kegs, except for a narrow channel.

The entire areas from Dutch territorial waters to the southern extremity of Norway have been mined, it was said, with all normal waterways so completely sowed with explosives as to make sea traffic difficult and dangerous.

Amid a continuing savage struggle between Germany and the Allies for possession of Norway, British circles hinted today at a possible "big blow-up" which may lead to further extension of Europe's war.

Preliminary rumbles of the explosion which may come were heard on all sides as activity on the Western Front and the situation of the low countries began to distract attention from the tremendous drama at sea.

BRITISH PLANES BREAK WINDOWS IN RAIL OFFICE

Schleswig-Holstein District Scene Of Onslaught; Aerial Situation Created

Falsification Charged

A foreign office spokesman, however, commented that Churchill had "smoke-screened the British defeat by falsification of military facts."

"Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain probably is glad," the spokesman continued, "that the shrewd Churchill, a brilliant orator, is representing the navy, because Churchill is a better speaker than he is first lord of the admiralty."

After thus contemptuously disposing of the claims made by Churchill, the spokesman said that Germany is still hopeful of reaching a settlement with Norway, but not with the government headed by Premier Johann Nygaardsvold.

Germany, he declared, considers further negotiations with the Nygaardsvold government fruitless, but still hopes that negotiations with King Haakon may be resumed.

"The Nygaardsvold regime," said the spokesman, is no longer representative of the Norwegian people or interests.

"It apparently is still cherishing mad illusions and is a victim of false inspirations."

Asked what Germany's attitude toward the Oslo regime headed by pro-Nazi Vidkun Quisling, the spokesman replied:

"It is up to the Norwegian people to install a workable government."

Authorities revealed that the Swedish minister to Berlin called at the foreign office yesterday but the nature of his conversations with German officials was not revealed.

Minister Recall Denied

Meanwhile, it was denied by the foreign office spokesman that the German ministers to Brussels and the Hague have been recalled to Berlin to make reports.

WHEELER GIVEN ANOTHER BOOST FOR PRESIDENCY

WASHINGTON, April 12—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana liberal, was given a fresh boost for the Democratic presidential nomination today while President Roosevelt took steps to heal party wounds caused by the third term boom.

Endorsing Wheeler for the presidency, Sen. D. Worth Clark (D-Ia.) called him the "only outstanding candidate who has stated unconditionally that he would never permit this country to become involved in a European war." Clark declared Wheeler's anti-war stand was what "all peace-loving Americans want from their leaders."

The President, now virtually assured of a third term nomination, meanwhile moved to solidify Democratic ranks—whether or not he accepts the nomination. His first act, designed to restore friendly political relations with Vice-President John N. Garner, was to inform New Dealers in Texas that he has no desire of contesting the vice president for the Lone Star state's 46 delegates.

CANDIDATES HAVE FIELD DAY AS TRUSTEES MEET

Fifteen candidates seeking office in the May primary election took bows at the Pickaway County Township Trustees' and Clerks' Association dinner at the American Hotel Thursday night.

It was a regular meeting of the association, but because of the closeness to the time of the primaries, all county candidates were invited to attend. Joe Thomas and John Tucker, both of Columbus, who head the legislative committee of the state association, were present and each delivered a brief talk on legislative affairs.

The date of the convention of the Ohio State Township Trustees and Clerks Association has been set for June 13, 14 and 15 in Cleveland, it was announced. James Mowery, Pickaway Township, is the chairman of the county association.

TWO FORFEIT BONDS

Two forfeited bonds of $5 each were turned over to the auditor's office Friday by Squire W. A. Miller of Darby Township. They were posted by Robert E. Howard and Chester L. Beets, both of Columbus, who were arrested on April 4 and March 31 respectively. Both arrests were made by Constable John Stige who charged them both with reckless operation on Route 62.

F. D. R. TO FEED DANISH COLONY FOLK IN SUMMER

WASHINGTON, April 12—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana liberal, was given a fresh boost for the Democratic presidential nomination today while President Roosevelt took steps to heal party wounds caused by the third term boom.

Endorsing Wheeler for the presidency, Sen. D. Worth Clark (D-Ia.) called him the "only outstanding candidate who has stated unconditionally that he would never permit this country to become involved in a European war."

Clark declared Wheeler's anti-war stand was what "all peace-loving Americans want from their leaders."

At the same time, Britain anxiously awaited for further word regarding the naval operation still progressing in Scandinavian waters, hoping that they soon would be told that the Allies had wrested Norway from Germany.

Meanwhile they had to be content with the announcement of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill that four German cruisers and other Reich naval units had been destroyed and that the German fleet had been "crippled."

GERMAN PLANE BASE BOMBED, WATERS MINED

More Lightning Hinted

Similarly the ever-mounting tension in Sweden as well as in Holland and Belgium—and to a lesser extent in the Balkans—lent color to the belief that the Scandinavian crisis is no more than the fore-runner of another and perhaps more violent bolt of martial lightning.

While official secrecy still shrouded full details of the fight for Norway, public and expert opinion in England appeared about equally divided on the question whether Sweden and Holland will enter the struggle by drawing the next "unlucky number" in the lottery of war.

Newspaper dispatches indicated that Sweden is fully alive to the possibilities and is taking no chances.

The London News Chronicle said it was reported in Stockholm that Sweden passed the night under an officially ordered "state of alarm" and that all cities were completely blacked out.

Swedish authorities, this account added, mobilized all military and police forces in southwestern and coastal Swedish cities against what were described as "imminent developments of an unknown nature."

The Daily Express said that Swedish forces—soldiers, policemen, firemen and air raid wardens—were standing by at points along the West Coast and that the entire Swedish West Coast of the Norwegian frontier to Malmö was blacked out.

Fear of possible German landings was cited as the reason for these precautions.

Planes Await Orders

Information was reported to have reached Gothenburg that 200 German troop-carrying planes were waiting in Denmark for possible orders.

According to the Express, the state of alarm was ordered at Malmö, Halmstad and Trelleborg, while the airport at Torslona near Gothenburg was covered with old automobiles and taxicabs to prevent surprise troop landings.

New Attendance Marks Certain For Red Joust

Opening Day Festivities To Be Brief But Colorful; 36,000 To See Game

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
Nearing journeys end, as far as spring barnstorming is concerned, the Cincinnati Reds today were to oppose the Detroit Tigers in Dayton. Yesterday's scheduled Red-Tiger tiff in Portsmouth was rained out.

Saturday and Sunday, weather permitting, the Reds meet the same Tigers in Cincinnati. Then on Tuesday comes the long awaited opening day when the Reds inaugurate the 1940 season, tangling with the Chicago Cubs.

Opening day festivities, built on long traditions, will be brief but colorful. In view of Cincinnati's current status as pennant defender, high ranking national league officials were expected to occupy choice box seats in Crosley Field. It was highly possible that Gov. John W. Bricker might attend the initial encounter, if his administrative schedule so follows.

If the present trend is any indication, a new attendance mark will be set at Crosley Field on the first day. The 34,148 mark established in the 1937 when the Cubs edged the Reds, 8 to 7, in the first test for both, appeared doomed. Three thousand seats were installed before the World Series last fall. So the crowd Tuesday might approximate 36,000 or 37,000 depending entirely on weather conditions.

1940 DUCATS ASKED

Incidentally, there are already on file in the Reds' ticket office requests for opening day seats in 1941. The Reds have not won an initial home encounter since 1932 when they edged Chicago 5 to 4 in a nip and tuck match.

Several sports experts have selected the Reds to duplicate last year's pennant winning feat. They base their prognostications on the belief that with substantially the same lineup, there is no good reason why a repeat performance is not in the cards.

The other seven clubs have made winter trades, generally attempted to strengthen their lineups. But, with the exception of St. Louis, not one of the seven can be viewed apprehensively, as far as the Reds are concerned.

Besides that, if Hurley Johnny Vander Meer returns to his 1938 form when he won 15 games and lost 10, the Reds will have a weapon which could not be depended upon last year. There is the possibility, too, that Vince DiMaggio, outfielder acquired from Kansas City, might solve big league hurling and bolster the Reds' offensive attack. Vince hit .290 for Kansas City last year, pounding out 21 home runs.

ANOTHER BIG DELEGATION READY TO HIT ABC SLIDES

DETROIT, April 12—Headed by Joe Wilman, Chicago kegler who won the all-events title at Cleaveland last year, another delegation of the nation's ace bowlers was on hand today to take its turn at cutting a slice of the $241,000 prize money in the American Bowling Congress championships.

In addition to Wilman, there were the Chicago teams of Joe Gillis and Joe Wilman's Budweisers while Cleveland had the Colingwood Shales who some felt would hang up the first 3,000 total of the meet.

Weber's Dairy, Joliet, Ill., an unheralded five, slipped into second spot in the five-man event but none of the leaders in the minor events was seriously threatened.

Leaders: five-man event, Kilng's Beer, Flint Mich., 2983; two-man event, V. Lamb-E. Gramlich, Peoria, Ill., 1303; singles, John Taylor, Upper Darby, Pa., 730; all-events, Jack Schaefer, Hartford, Wis., 1961.

TUESDAY "TWILIGHT DAY" FOR BEULAH PARK RACES

COLUMBUS, April 12—Tuesdays instead of Thursdays will Beulah Park spring meeting which opens April 20, it was announced today. Thursday had previously been designated. On Tuesdays, the first race will not start until 4 p.m. with the last one getting underway no later than 7:30 p.m.

Others in the nomination list are dangerous when right, these including Pasteurized, 116, winner of the 1938 Belmont Stakes; Masked General, 115, who once almost knocked over War Admiral in a surprise performance that would have proven one of the greatest upsets in turf history since the Riddle horse at that time was the greatest equine of the day; Brown King, 112, recent winner of the $15,000 Cuban headliner at Havana, and others of high calibre. Should owner Brann ultimately decide to keep Chaledon on the bench during the Dixie running, he is not without another representative, the veteran Challenger, another son of Challenger II, which gets him with 116 pounds. Defeat Of Yank Team Would Be Great Upset

By Lawton Carver

NEW YORK, April 12—If the Boston Red Sox win the American League pennant for 1940 it will be regarded as one of the biggest baseball upheavals of all time, despite a tendency among some observers, including Connie Mack, to foresee dethronement of the New York Yankees. The latter logically can't be shunted aside. They must be figured to win their fifth straight pennant and as many world championships in a row with a club apparently as good as it was last year. That means a club rated among the all-time greatest.

The Red Sox, who finished second last season, were 17 games behind the champions and insofar as can be determined at this stage of the proceedings haven't accomplished enough since to overcome that tremendous deficit unless the Yankees should slip badly for very good reason. While the Sox have power and fielding, they are burdened with extremely shaky pitching, which probably will further perpetuate their frustration.

The Yanks again seem likely to have a tremendous all-around club combining the better features of hard hitting, smart pitching and beautifully deft fielding. The lineup will be, as usual, Bill Dickey behind the bat, Babe Dahlgren on first base, Joe Gordon at second, Frankie Crosetti at short, Red Rolfe at third and George Selkirk, Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller in the outfield.

In the event Red Ruffing, a 21-game winner last season, Lefty Gomez, and Bump Hadley are headed for the toboggan as some insist, the Yankees still have more than a dozen other pitchers.

So how can the Red Sox nose out this aggregation, which last season again spread eagle the American League field, then annihilated the Cincinnati Reds in four straight for the world title?

The race should therefore finish about like this:

New York, Boston, Cleveland, Detroit or Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis.

DIZ POPS OFF, SO HIS FLIPPER MUST BE READY

CHICAGO, April 12—The pitching firm of Dizzy Dean, Inc., with Mrs. Dean acting as vice president in charge of getting her husband back in the good graces of Manager Gabby Hartnett, today was slated for another merger with the Chicago Cubs.

And since Mrs. Dean in St. Louis yesterday completely converted him to the idea that a ball club manager is supposed to manage, it appeared that negotiations would be successfully concluded to put Dean back on the Cub mound staff.

The Cubs whom Dean deserted at Kansas City after being fined $100 for violating curfew, arrived in Chicago last night, their game yesterday with the St. Louis Browns having been cancelled because of cold and snow. Dean was reported planning to motor here today.

The pitcher Wednesday wound up and called Hartnett both a "pickle puss" and a "tomato face," also making the belligerent assertion that "no one can tell me when to go to bed." But after a talk with his wife, all was different.

He would pay the fine, he said, and thought he richly deserved the punishment. Hartnett was absolutely right. Here after, he would follow Hartnett's instructions to the letter. The whole thing was a misunderstanding. Mrs. Dean seconded him in all this, but also suggested that calling the manager a "pickle puss" was a good sign.

"When Dizzy's arm was bad, he kept quiet," she explained, "now that he's popping off again, it shows his arm is all right."

The Cubs this afternoon are scheduled to resume their series with the Chicago White Sox, if it isn't too cold.

BRUNS AND KNUTSEN RETAIN THEIR TITLES

COLUMBUS, April 12—The wrestling crowns of Bobby Bruns, Chicago heavyweight, and Gil Knutson, Canadian junior-heavyweight, were settled a bit more firmly on their brows today after successful defenses last night at the Charity League Milk Fund show. Knutson defeated his fellow Canadian, George Dusette, in a clean match, while storm-trooper, Frederick von Schact after meeting more than half-way all the rough stuff the Teton attempted to dish out.

The Red Sox, who finished second last season, were 17 games behind the champions and insofar as can be determined at this stage of the proceedings haven't accomplished enough since to overcome that tremendous deficit unless the Yankees should slip badly for very good reason. While the Sox have power and fielding, they are burdened with extremely shaky pitching, which probably will further perpetuate their frustration.

OPEN LETTERS

TO AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT

AUTHORITIES: Any criticism that might be fired at the Pickaway County Agricultural Society because bingo games were operated during the last Pumpkin Show is entirely uncalled for and without foundation. I understand that the threat has been voiced that future state funds for conduct of the festival might be withheld because of these games. If that is the only reason why the $800 allotment was held up for three months, then it appears that state officials are making a case where there isn't any. Pumpkin Show officials have frowned on gaming in any festival, and by gaming I mean in any shape or form. It just is not permitted. How state officials can hold directors of the Society to task because two private organizations rented their grounds for conduct of bingo games is pretty far-fetched. Circleville's Pumpkin Show has gone on for many, many years; it will continue to operate. But it seems a shame to me if the Department of Agriculture takes any action against the Society because of these games. There are many individuals who protest because Circleville's event is conducted in the uptown streets. Some believe that it should be removed to a rural district. That is what the state would like to have done, and possibly some day that step might be taken, but not now. Pickaway County had a county fair many years ago, and it proved to be a great one, because anything that Circleville and Pickaway County decide to do is done properly. For one reason or another it was broken up, and the Pumpkin Show grew. The Pumpkin Show, state officials can easily learn, is famous not only in this community, but is looked forward to every year by hundreds of persons in many of the surrounding counties. It is tradition, and will exist regardless of opposition. If the $800 state fund is refused it means that the Junior Fair, fast becoming one of the finest events of the show, may be cancelled. This should not be permitted.

CIRCUISTER.

Most folk know that your finances are nil; they just aren't. But there are still persons who believe that miracles can be performed merely by a nod of the head, or a wave of the hand. Streets can't be repaired without money, and that is something that Circleville just hasn't. I hope that ere long you will be able to get to work, and until that time motorists will just have to dodge and duck if they wish to save the springs on their cars from breaking and the tops of their heads from bouncing against the tops of their cars. This situation isn't a good one, but I don't know just what you fellows are expected to do about it.

CIRCUISTER.

TO CITY, COUNTY OFFICIALS

EXECUTIVES: You are face to face with a relief finance problem that would make almost anyone quake who tried to solve it. From just what source money is coming to finance your various relief problems is a question that, I believe, none of you can answer at the present time. Developments in the next week or 10 days may bring a solution, but I doubt even that possibility. Both of you are far in the red and indications are that you will sink deeper as time goes on. The only advice that I can offer is that both of you exercise the utmost economy in an effort to keep the deficits from becoming much graver. With cold weather about ended, demands for fuel should fall off, more labor should be available on surrounding farms, canning factories will be opening up, and other work should be available to help lift the load. The suggestion is made that a real estate tax levy of one and one-half mills be sought in the city and county to alleviate conditions, but doubt exists whether this question could be put on the ballot in time for the primary, or whether it would receive the necessary number of votes if it were attempted. As the matter stands now, the county is without money to care for its relief load; the city is without money and is already in debt by nearly $4,000 to the county for administering aid to its needy. The commissioners want their money because they have their own bills to pay, and they have even hinted that they may turn the city's job of administering aid back to it within the next 30 days. If this step is taken it means plenty of complications and even greater expense to both relief agencies, city and county. A man as wise as Solomon is needed now to advise the officials of city and county which way to turn. I wish he would show up, and soon.

CIRCUISTER.

TO STUDENTS

BOYS, GIRLS: Congratulations today go to all members of the Pickaway County scholarship team and to those seniors who rated so high in the recent state tests. It must mean something to all of you who were selected to represent Pickaway County in the district-state test to be conducted in Columbus. You should feel deep satisfaction at being chosen to take the examinations in the interest of your county, the combined effort of the team to put Pickaway County at the top of all Ohio counties. Marima June Straley, Williamsport senior, who rated at the top of the county's final year students, should feel proud that she scored a 210 grade out of a possible 300 in the recent senior examination. The cream of seniors from all Pickaway County schools participated and her ability to finish ahead of all others should provide her with much pleasure. More success to all of you in your future endeavors for the glory of your schools.

CIRCUISTER.

TO SERVICE DEPARTMENT

OFFICIALS: I have a lot of feeling for you fellows right now and it is all sympathetic. I know that you are pulling at the bit, hoping to get Circleville's street repair project opened as soon as it is possible. Many persons have been protesting concerning the condition of the various streets, and their protests are well based, too, because many of Circleville's streets are so filled with chuckholes that they look like the Nazis have been dropping tiny explosives from the air into them. The winter has done something to them, and it hasn't been anything good.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—
Charles P. Stewart

FAR BE IT from any American navy man or aviator to want the European war prolonged a minute beyond what absolutely can't be helped.

Nevertheless if it unavoidably IS prolonged spokesmen of both services agree that it promises to furnish an answer to a much controvered question, of deep concern to sea and air warriors alike.

The question is:

Because of aviation's development, is sea power now obsolete, or at least obsolescent?

Naval experts answer negatively.

Their version is that aviation is an important arm, but only as a surface fleet's auxiliary. There are aviation enthusiasts who argue contrariwise.

In the last World war aviation hadn't progressed sufficiently to give the issue much of a test. The present war still is too young to have proved anything at all conclusively. Conversations with seamen and airmen are mutually unconvincing. Naval officers are open to the suspicion of old fogeyishness—or unwillingness to recognize that their profession is out of date. Aviators equally are open to the suspicion that they overestimate the fighting value of the plane.

There's been a lot of experimenting, but experiments are not the real thing.

For instance, the late General "Billy" Mitchell (champion aviator) declared he could sink any ship afloat. An old derelict was tied up off the Virginia Capes for him to operate on, and he sank it all right. However, it was unmanned and at anchor. Surface sailors say he couldn't have done it, had it been dodging around and shooting at him with anti-aircraft guns.

Other airmen have gone up, been shot at and have escaped. The anti-aircraft gunners have had to be mighty careful not to hit 'em, though—for purely experimental purposes.

AVIATION ASHORE

For land operations the plane's possibilities have been fairly fully assessed.

The plane can do a near-infinity of damage and commit an almost unlimited amount of homicide, but it can't land troops in any number, or throw anything worse than a "scare" into the enemy.

Sinking battleships is a different

Battleships are expensive, slow to build and rather scarce.

Planes are relatively cheap, producible quite rapidly, and there are swarms of 'em.

And this war is the genuine article—no mere experiment.

So, the query is:

Can a plane, by a good shot, sink a war vessel?—battleship, cruiser or lesser craft?

GERMANY'S GOT TO DO IT

It's the consensus of expert opinion that Germany's got to be able to do it.

It's conceded, even by Berlin that Der Fuehrer naval (speaking on the surface) is out-classed by Britain. But Germany's dope is that the Reich's sea and air power (counting its combined powers) out-rates Britain—taking sea and air power combined.

But how much good is air power?

Which is which?

Is Germany's air power (if any) superior to Britain's undoubted superior sea plus air power (whatever it may amount to)?

Our naval-aviation folk would like to know about all this. It's military educational.

Preventing "Gas" in Baby-Feeding

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

How do you manage air swallowing, "burping" and regurgitation in infants?

Air swallowing and "burping" go together and are common difficulties. As a matter of fact, air swallowing is probably due in most cases to excessive vigor on the part of the baby rather than an alarming habit. A strong baby sucks voraciously and noisily on the nipple, holding it tightly in his mouth and refusing to allow removal. Soon the vacuum within the bottle equals the sucking power of the infant, the formula ceases to flow, air enters the infant's mouth between lips and nipple. Part of this air is swallowed, part enters the bottle and the process is repeated. The distended stomach, filled with air and formula, at first satisfies the infant and he stops nursing before emptying the bottle.

Unless he "burps," the infant soon has acute discomfort and may show this by flexing thighs on abdomen and crying out, and so disrupts the household. To allow the air bubble to escape from the stomach, the mother holds the infant vertically against her shoulder and pats the infant's back. Chronic air swallowers should be "burped" three or four times this way during each feeding because if not "burped" until the feeding is completed, the baby may bring up much of the feeding along with the air.

The question of the regurgitation of a small amount of food after each feeding may worry a mother considerably, although it is of no consequence if the rate of weight gain and development is quite adequate.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. A. B.: "I am bothered at night with an itching on my heels. It seems to start in the evening after dinner. The best I can describe it is that it is like a frostbite. No breaking of the skin, just a dry, tingling focus."

These two causes are in the majority as factors in chronic suppurating ears. Sometimes an overwhelming infection will cause a persistent discharge.

What May Cause Ears to Discharge

What is the cause of persistently discharging ears?

In children who have had an ear infection which has partially subsided but continues to discharge a little bit, one should think of these things:

First, the possibility of associated mastoiditis. In an acute middle ear infection the discharge should diminish in a few days and cease at the end of one to three weeks. If it does not do so and there is persistent temperature and tenderness over the mastoid bone, annoying pain or headache, mastoiditis is almost a certainty and much trouble can be saved by facing the necessity for a simple surgical drainage of the mastoid cavity.

Chronic discharge of the ear may be due to neglected acute middle ear infection and often indicates the presence of an infective focus in the throat, at the throat end of the Eustachian tube, from adenoids, tonsils or nasal sinuses. It will subside on removal of the infective focus.

These two causes are in the majority as factors in chronic suppurating ears. Sometimes an overwhelming infection will cause a persistent discharge.

Answer—

This is probably due to a circulatory disturbance, either varicose veins or hardening of the arteries of the leg. It may be increased by constriction of the legs from garters or elastic. Also, the shoes should have expert attention. Diabetes may cause such a condition of the urine for sugar is indicated.

T. J.: "Will you please tell me if eating uncooked oatmeal would have any injurious effect? I started about three years ago and now I eat quite a good deal. I just love it and would rather have it than almost anything else. I have never felt as well in my life and have often felt that my system may need this roughage."

Answer—For those who are able to stand the roughage, uncooked oatmeal is a good food. Probably not as much of it is absorbed as cooked oatmeal, but enough for nutritional purposes is.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped and mailed to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reduction Diet for Weight Loss and Constipation"; "Reducing and Gaining Weight"; "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes"; "Feminine Hygiene"; and "The Care of the Hair and Skin".

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

I COULD think of no better place to hide the box I had stolen from Belzer than under the bed. No matter where else I put it, I could think of a dozen reasons why he might want to look there.

I tried to look calm when I opened the door for him.

"Hi, Butch!" he greeted me jovially. "Nice of you to invite me over. I thought this afternoon that we were enemies for life."

"I didn't invite you over," I reminded him coldly. I was feeling a little uneasy, however. I couldn't stay angry at him. I was going to feel ashamed of myself if he found that box, even though I felt that he, too, had taken it without permission.

"Belzer dropped into my best chair. As usual, he neglected to remove his hat. He carelessly lit a cigarette, held the match uncertainly a moment, then dropped it on the floor. "Now, what's this new angle you've uncovered on Markham?" he asked.

edged with low-growing plants as forget-me-nots, rock cress, moss pink, or ground ivy.

Today's Garden-Graph shows a wrong way of edging a small pool. The wrong way shows cobble stones set in rigid formation around the edge. When this is done it creates an artificial effect which professional gardeners sometimes refer to as "the pearl necklace effect." The right way, as illustrated, also makes use of stones, but in this case the pool has been given a natural effect by the use of flat, or ledge stones, such as you might find in a pool landscaped by Nature herself. Such stones do not need to be set in even formation; at various points allow them to protrude slightly over the edge of the pool.

The most interesting stones for use around a pool are moss-covered ones from the woods, or river stones which have been worn by the action of the water into shapes.

NEWLY-UNIFORMED HIGH SCHOOL BAND PARTICIPATES IN FESTIVAL

MANY JOIN WITH YOUNGSTERS ON MT. VERNON TRIP

New Equipment Paid For With Contributed Funds Arrives In Time For Function

TWO INSTRUMENTS ADDED

Legion Auxiliary Gets Credit For Starting Campaign That Proves Great Success

Circleville High School's band, bedecked in bright new uniforms and scheduled to strut as it has never strutted before, was in Mount Vernon Friday participating in a Central Ohio Music Festival. The band's new suits, bought with money contributed by interested citizens and from proceeds of several functions sponsored by school interests, arrived Thursday. Caps were to come in Friday morning's mail.

Also appearing at Mount Vernon were the band of that city, Upper Arlington and Lancaster, but Circleville youngsters, proud in their new outfits, were expected to be "the finest in the entire parade." Professor C. F. Zaenglein dressed in his new white suit, was like a hen clucking around her flock as the band prepared for its journey at noon. The band director, whose efforts have made Circleville High's one of the best in central Ohio, could hardly wait to get his youngsters in line and ready to turn out music.

The new uniforms are red and black with gold trimmings. The military coat is tailless, trousers have a gold stripe down the side and the red shako is topped with a red pompon.

New Instruments Used

The band includes 52 members in addition to Jane Colville, drum major; Clark Martin and Frank Davis, Jr., flag bearers; Donald Wells, manager, and Professor Zaenglein. Since the band's last appearance two glockenspiels have been added, funds being provided from the money donated for the uniforms. The glockenspiels, played by Ruth Blum and Catherine Betts, will be carried at the front of the band. The new instruments are like lyres with bells. Their addition should add much to the band.

Also included are 15 trumpets, four saxophones, six trombones, five percussions, five alto, nine clarinets, four baritones, two basses.

Guest conductor for the Mount Vernon festival will be William McBride, associated with the Ohio State University music department. The parade was scheduled at 3 o'clock with the concert at 8.

The program to be played by the bands tonight included Colos-march; The Sky Pilot, Laurens, overture; Maytime, Romberg, selection; Chicago Tribune March, Chambers; Hongroise, Scornicka, overture; The Bat, Strauss, selection; Lights Out, McCoy, march. Circleville's crack trumpet trio, including Delbert Puckett, Robert Kline and Jack Goldberry, with Ruth Blum as accompanist, will play Sails on a Silvery Sea, by Storm.

Started by Auxiliary

The band uniform campaign was started almost four years ago when the American Legion Auxiliary went on record in favor of the project and started the ball rolling by conducting a few several functions to result in a pot of $100 being collected. The project remained dormant for a while, but support provided by the Chamber of Commerce started a forward movement again.

In February this year a committee comprised of Ray E. Rowland, chairman, Frank Fischer, Mrs. Allen Thornton, R. G. Colville, Miss Elma Rains, Mr. Zaenglein and Frank A. Lynch organized to plan a campaign that would bring enough money for the uniforms. Never has a project received so much support in Circleville as did the band campaign. Organizations, individuals and firms contributed and a drive that sought $1,250 brought contributions that passed $2,600.

The band's second appearance in its new equipment will be at Lancaster on April 26 at another band festival.

Despite the cold weather many parents and friends of the band members went to Mount Vernon Friday.

FAVORITE DRINKS

LONDON—The favorite drinks of the British armed forces, as noted by a bartender at a famous London hotel are: Navy: Pink Plymouth (gin and bitters); Army: Whiskey and soda or beer; Air Force: Rye Highball (Rye whiskey and ginger ale.) Of cocktails those with a gin basis are preferred by all three services, the bartender said.

Fluorescent lighting was in the experimental stage just a few years ago and is today being applied to everyday needs.

With such lighting, a huge savings in the Court House light bill is anticipated. The new lamp, which throws a shadowless light due to diffusion and is the color of daylight, has four tubes of 40 watts each. The tubes are guaranteed to last for 2,000 hours.

The Bar Association at its meeting last week strongly urged the use of the new equipment arguing that it will improve the looks of the court room and would save strain on the eyes of persons in the court in the conduct of legal business.

BIKES WITHOUT LIGHTS LEAD TO APPREHENSION OF RUNAWAY YOUNGSTERS

A lack of licenses and lights led to the arrest Thursday night of two boys who ran away from their homes in Columbus Thursday. Arthur Waltz, 11, Bartman Street, and Charles Burdette, 13, Parsons Avenue, were apprehended at 9:40 p. m. as they rode their bicycles through Circleville without lights or identification.

The boys admitted they had stolen one of the bicycles in order that they both might make a trip. The boy's parents were notified that their sons who had left Columbus at 10 a. m., were being held at the city jail.

Schleswig-Holstein District Scene Of Onslaught; Aerial Situation Created

REPRISALS ARE PLEDGED

Government Says Churchill's Claims Of Advantages In North Unfounded

BERLIN, April 12 — A British aerial attack on civilian areas in Schleswig-Holstein was charged by German authorities today, with immediate and drastic reprisals threatened.

British bombers attacked a small railway station and bombed a sports field in the northernmost German province just south of Denmark, it was charged.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: A high official of the British air ministry promptly denied the German charges.)

Detonation of one bomb smashed the windows in the railway waiting room, it was asserted. While damage was small, German spokesmen emphasized that the attack was the first British onslaught against "German traffic installations."

"If this attempt is repeated," a spokesman said, "Germany will hold that a new situation has been created in the aerial warfare and will draw the appropriate consequences."

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Aerial exchanges between Germany and Britain thus far have been confined to attacks on naval bases. In one recent Nazi raid on Scapa Flow, however, Britain charges that German planes dropped bombs on land, killing and injuring a number of civilians.)

First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill's report to the British Parliament on naval operations in Scandinavian waters was an "admission of Britain's political and military defeat" in the battle for possession of Norway.

NAVAL CONTEST

Allied, German Fleets In Action Near Entrance To Kattegat

STOCKHOLM, April 12—A naval battle of major proportions between the Allied and German fleets appeared to be in progress today off Oslofjord and at the northern entrance to the Kattegat.

From towns along the Western Swedish Coast came reports of lively activity at sea throughout the night, and for a time incendiary gunfire which illuminated the sky with flame.

Heavy explosions were heard at sea by residents of the Swedish town of Stroemstad.

Residents said they saw small German vessels steaming away from an unidentified vessel which was sinking in flames. The sinking vessel was believed to be an oil tanker which either had been torpedoed or struck a mine.

At the same time, while the British navy sought to recapture Oslo from the Germans, Nazi warplanes carried out air raids near

WITH the bloodless conquest of Denmark and the near subjugation of Norway, the German Reich has virtually been expanded by 6,500,000 persons and uncounted area in square miles. This would bring the number of persons now under Hitler's rule to 118,000,000 of which approximately 80,000,000 were citizens of Germany when the Nazis came to power.

'ACID' TEST LOOMS FOR NEW PARALLEL PARKING STATUTE

Instructions to the police department concerning enforcement of traffic laws during the week end were issued Friday by Safety Director Karl J. Herrmann, with the director stressing tolerance on the part of the police officers and cooperation on the part of motorists.

"We realize that we are facing a problem Saturday with the new parallel parking ordinance being enforced for the first big business day," the director said, "and we are taking steps to make the test as easy as possible for everyone."

Herrmann declared that he had ordered the two-hour parking limit in the uptown district enforced throughout the day and from Saturday on. Cars parked too long will be tagged, he declared.

He said also that an extra policeman would be added to the Main Street force Saturday to watch the parallel parking situation and to help handle traffic. Herrmann said: "We intend to give visitors to Circleville every break possible."

Members of the Circleville official family are pointing out that with the parallel parking order being enforced there is room for double parking on both sides of Main Street without through traffic being bothered. He said that policemen will watch the double parking, giving shoppers a chance to obtain their goods and to get away without blocking travel in any respect.

This near paralysis of world merchant shipping gave rise to reports that an effort would be made to transfer the Scandinavian vessels to American registry. Under the Neutrality Act they would be forbidden to enter the prescribed combat zones but could continue operations to other unaffected ports.

Authorities explained the alarm was sounded when planes appeared over the city but could not be identified immediately owing to poor visibility. Later it was ascertained the planes were patrolling Swedish aircraft, authorities said.

Reports received in Paris said the air raid alarm created a "tremendous effect on the population" of Gothenburg.

According to these advices youths massed at various points in the city, prepared for immediate military service.

Police attempted to calm the populace, the French reports add, by announcing the alarm resulted from erroneous identification of the planes.

NEW YORK, April 12 — One census taker was a hero today. Another was in jail.

The hero, Andrew Perrone, found a woman unconscious from gas fumes pouring from a gas range over which a coffee pot had boiled, putting out the gas flame. Perrone revived her — then went ahead with his question taking.

The jailed man was Raymond Glespen. He called on Patrolman Lawrence Gorman who asked some questions on his account, including Glespen's name. That resulted in a 30 day jail term for Glespen on a charge of non-support.

RAIN AND WIND STORMS FORCE MERCURY DOWN

Temperature Slides To 25 Early Friday, Following Change In Weather

FRUIT IS ENDANGERED

Scioto Rises Five Feet In Last 24 Hours; Snow Covers Much Of State

What Circleville is calling its "shortest summer" came to an end Thursday night as icy blasts from the West came riding into town saddled on a 40-mile-an-hour wind following a torrential rain that raised the rainfall for the year another inch. The thermometer took a dizzy plunge from the high temperatures of last week to a low of 25 degrees Friday morning.

Motor transport trucks riding through Circleville Friday were snow-covered giving the city visual proof of the unusual snow storm that blanketed the Middlewest. The abrupt cold wave began to move East with terrific force as darkness fell and the mercury began its tobogganing at 6 p. m.

Covering the western part of the state with a thin sheet of ice, the stinging snow and sleet storm made driving conditions hazardous, the highway patrol reported. Extreme caution was urged although all roads remained open.

Air Traffic Halted

The pounding rainfall grounded all air traffic, but planes were leaving airports late Friday. The wind grew stronger and brought on the snow storm of blizzard proportions.

Lake Erie ports reported sudden temperature falls and heavy snows. Lorain seemed to bear the brunt of the storm as the wind seemed to be concentrated on that point to spend itself in fury. All traffic ceased there at 10:30 p. m. as reports of a raging blizzard and heavily drifting snows were received by the highway patrol.

Leviathan, Montana, was said to be the coldest point in the nation Thursday as a thermometer reading of -14 below zero was recorded. While Nebraska was covered with a three inch snowfall, who said his craft nearly rammed a submarine.

"All afternoon," said the skipper, "I saw lively sea activity in the distance to the North—ships followed by many planes.

Toward evening I saw three ships which looked like ordinary freighters. The first of these was torpedoed off Kaering Island. "My lifeboat went straight toward the sinking ship, but when I was half way there guns began to fire.

"At the same moment I saw a submarine just before my bow, so close that I almost rammed it. I ordered my men to turn about."

The captain of the lifeboat Wilhelm R. Lundgren, which also was out at the same time, said he saw "masses of dead" in the water. Another eye-witness said that a torpedo boat was sunk and that Swedish warships remained in the area all through the battle to protect Swedish neutrality.

FUGITIVES FLEE NORWAY TO SAFETY IN SWEDEN

SKILLINGMARK, at the Swedish-Norwegian frontier, April 12—Political fugitives poured across the border from Norway and Sweden today seeking to escape the Scandinavian war.

Some were members of the Norwegian Parliament who found themselves cut off from their homes and sought to skirt Germany's forces and return to their own cities by way of Sweden.

Another fugitive was a famous German doctor who once was a leader of the now defunct German Social Democratic Party. After the Nazis came to power he fled to Czechoslovakia, then to Norway. Today he is seeking refuge in Sweden.

European Bulletins

BRUSSELS — A violent explosion occurred today a few miles inside German territory across the border from the Belgian city of Eupen. Huge flames mounted into the sky following a series of detonations. The blasts were believed to have occurred in a munitions dump.

STOCKHOLM — The 9,076-ton Swedish tanker Sveaborg was sunk north of Scotland today while en route to Sweden from the United States with a cargo of oil. The crew of 34 was saved and taken to a Scotch harbor. (Representatives of the owners of the Sveaborg in London said they understood the vessel had been torpedoed.)

PARIS—Anti-aircraft guns went into action twice in the Paris region today as a lone German plane flew over the city. No air raid alarm was sounded.

ROME—A report that approximately 650,000 Italian reserves will be called to the colors in the near future was officially and emphatically denied in Rome today.

KAUNUS, Lithuania—The Kaunas newspaper Lietuvos Aidas in a dispatch from Berlin reported today that Germany and Soviet Russia had conferred on the use of Murmansk, Russia, as a Nazi naval base. The dispatch stated that Nazi Ambassador Count Friedrich Von Der Schulenberg discussed the matter in his interview with Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov Tuesday in Moscow.

MASSES OF DEAD SEEN IN WATERS IN WAR DISTRICT

STOCKHOLM, April 12 — A dramatic description of a sea battle Wednesday off the Swedish port of Gothenburg was provided today by the master of the Swedish lifeboat "Justus Waller," who said his craft nearly rammed a submarine.

"All afternoon," said the skipper, "I saw lively sea activity in the distance to the North—ships followed by many planes.

Toward evening I saw three ships which looked like ordinary freighters. The first of these was torpedoed off Kaering Island. "My lifeboat went straight toward the sinking ship, but when I was half way there guns began to fire.

U. S. FEELS SURE EUROPE'S STRIFE NEAR NEW STAGE

WASHINGTON, April 12—The U. S. government—having taken all possible steps for the protection of Americans in the new Scandinavian war zone—today pursued a policy of "watchful waiting," expecting even more dramatic developments in Europe at any hour.

POLICE SAVE YOUTH WHO KICKED OUT STORE GLASS

COLUMBUS, April 12—Quick action on the part of two patrolmen today was credited with saving the life of Warren Younkin, 19, after he reportedly kicked out the window of a radio shop "for a prank."

Carl A. Cole, heard the window break at his shop, and fired two shots at three fleeing youths. Police followed a trail of blood and found Younkin and two companions who were trying to stem the flow of blood from Younkin's slashed leg.

Younkin's companions, Warren Mills, 18, and Robert Archer, 19, who told police of the alleged prank, were held on charges of malicious destruction of property.

M'KELL ESTATE GOES TO COURT

Kin In Columbus Claims Document Filed Now Final Will

CHILLICOTHE, April 12—Adding fuel to the legal fire that is being waged between the states of Ohio and West Virginia over tax claims on the $12,414,139.55 estate of William McKell of Chillicothe, Louise Tiffin, 44, Columbus, filed a contest of the will in Ross County Common Pleas Court, alleging that the testament bequeathing the bulk of the estate to five other cousins was not his final will.

Beneficiaries who are defendants in this new court action are Mary A. Kilvert, Chillicothe; Charles A. Kilvert, Providence, Rhode Island; David McCandless McKell, Chillicothe; Phoebe Smith Pierpont, Omaha, Nebraska, and Lyle S. Evans, guardian of five minor heirs of William Scott McKell, fifth cousin.

Cyrus Hoffman and Walter W. Bouler, administrators, Marie Sparks, and Ada Cook, Columbus, Fay Davidson, St. Petersburg, Florida, and George W. Sunn, Sabina are other defendants named.

The plaintiff states that William McKell died August 22, 1939 "leaving the plaintiff and the defendants his only heirs at law." The will naming the other five cousins as heirs, she says, is not his last will and asks that the issue be made on that contention and that it be set aside.

OHIO STATE ORGANIZATION MEETING TERMED SUCCESS

The recent reorganization of the Ohio State University Alumni at the American Hotel on March 22 at which time J. Wray Henry, class of '16, principal of the Circleville High School, was elected president, was termed by the Ohio State University Monthly, official alumni magazine, "one of the most successful meetings ever held in this area."

Pat Kirwin, formerly of Circleville, assistant alumni secretary at the university, arranged the meeting.

WILLIAMSPORT YOUTH IN PETITION FOR DIVORCE

A suit for divorce was filed in Common Pleas Court Thursday by A. J. Cook as next friend for his son, Marvin Cook, 20, Williamsport, against Grace R. Cook, 18.

The petition charges Mrs. Cook with extreme cruelty and gross neglect of duty. Mrs. Cook is living with her father, Verlin E. Robison in Hastings, Michigan.

They were married at Greenup, Kentucky, in February, 1938 and have one child, a daughter, nine months old.

Then Litel remembered. "Yes—we were in the same cell in Alcatraz."

GAY NINETIES

A "Barber Shop Medley" of familiar tunes will be the highlight of the Monday evening, April 15, broadcast of "Tune-Up Time," second of six programs originating from Hollywood. Conductor Andre Kostelanetz's ensemble presentation of masculine airs popular when gas light gleamed on street corners will include the following old favorites, "Sweet Adeline," "Put On Your Old Gray Bonnet," "There's A Long, Long Trail A-Winding," and "Good Night Ladies."

Tony Martin's solo of the evening will be his personal theme song, "A Young Man Sings". When Tony first closed a "Tune-Up Time" program back in January with this ballad written especially for him, listeners liked the refrain so much Tony continued it week after week. Now, in response to a flood of requests, Tony will sing all of "A Young Man Sings".

With the chorus, Singing M. C. Tony will be heard in the popular "Woodpecker Song" and "I've Got My Eyes On You", from "Broadway Melody of 1940".

Maestro Kostelanetz and his 45 musicians, the orchestra assembled for "Tune-Up Time's" Hollywood sojourn, will be heard in "I'm Falling In Love With Love", a Rodgers and Hart hit from "The Boys From Syracuse", and in Fibisch's "Poeme", from which the popular "Moonlight Madonna" was adapted.

RAYMOND GRAM SWING

For the time being, Raymond Gram Swing, distinguished war analyst, will return to his former schedule of five broadcasts a week over the Mutual network. This is a result of the many phone calls and letters asking that Mr. Swing completely cover the Scandinavian crisis that broke overnight.

Raymond Gram Swing will be heard Mondays through Fridays at 10 p.m.

BRIEF RADIO NOTES

Arthur Godfrey, "Radio's No. 1 ad libber," is not only an early bird comic, singer, banjoist and pianist, but a composer. Proof of this lies in the fact that Sammy Kaye and his orchestra on the "Sensation and Swing" program Monday, April 15, will feature Godfrey's new tune, "Grandma's Minuet." The composer will make a guest appearance on the show.

A stirring tale of crooked prize fighting, racketeers and hoodlums who had a championship match all rigged before the fighters headed for the ring will be unfolded by "Mr. District Attorney" over the NBC-Red network, Thursday, April 18 at 8 p.m. Jay Jostyn, Vicki Vola, Len Doyle and an exceptional cast, with mood music by Peter Van Steeden and his orchestra, will present the story.

Esther Brooke, who heads one of the largest employment agencies in New York City, will be the "Woman of the Week" on "The Hour of Charm" program with Phil Spitalny's all-girl orchestra, Sunday, April 14, at 10 p.m. Miss Brooke, who has aided thousands of persons to obtain jobs, will discuss the unemployment problem in the United States.

"Alice Blue Gown," the amazing revival that's currently leading all other tunes in network presentations (48 chain hearings were reported last week) will be among the Kay Kyser offerings on his "College of Musical Knowledge" broadcast Wednesday 10 to 11 p.m., on the NBC-Red network. Solos by Ginny Simms will include the hits "Starlit Hour" and "With the Wind and the Rain in Your Hair." Kyser's novelty specialty will be "The Woodpecker Song."

TWO RETURN FEES

COLUMBUS, April 12—Two more members of the 1936 Ohio Senate today had returned mileage fees the supreme court held were collected illegally. Harold D. Nichols of Batavia sent in $223.20, and Keith Lawrence of Cleveland applied $51.30 against his total bill of $205.20.

BRITISH PLANES BREAK WINDOWS IN RAIL OFFICE

Falsification Charged

A foreign office spokesman, however, commented that Churchill had "smoke-screened the British defeat by falsification of military facts."

"Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain probably is glad," the spokesman continued, "that the shrewd Churchill, a brilliant orator, is representing the navy, because Churchill is a better speaker than he is first lord of the admiralty."

After thus contemptuously disposing of the claims made by Churchill, the spokesman said that Germany is still hopeful of reaching a settlement with Norway, but not with the government headed by Premier Johann Nygaardsvold.

Germany, he declared, considers further negotiations with the Nygaardsvold government fruitless, but still hopes that negotiations with King Haakon may be resumed.

"The Nygaardsvold regime," said the spokesman, is no longer representative of the Norwegian people or interests.

"It apparently is still cherishing mad illusions and is a victim of false inspirations."

Asked what Germany's attitude is toward the Oslo regime headed by pro-Nazi Vidkun Quisling, the spokesman replied:

"It is up to the Norwegian people to install a workable government."

Authorities revealed that the Swedish minister to Berlin called at the foreign office yesterday but the nature of his conversations with German officials was not revealed.

Minister Recall Denied

Meanwhile, it was denied by the foreign office spokesman that the German minister to Brussels and the Hague have been recalled to Berlin to make reports.

WHEELER GIVEN ANOTHER BOOST FOR PRESIDENCY

WASHINGTON, April 12—Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, Montana liberal, was given a fresh boost for the Democratic presidential nomination today while President Roosevelt took steps to heal party wounds caused by the third term boom.

Indorsing Wheeler for the presidency, Sen. D. Worth Clark (D-Ia.) called him the "only outstanding candidate who has stated unconditionally that he would never permit this country to become involved in a European war."

Clark declared Wheeler's anti-war stand was what "all peace-loving Americans want from their leaders."

The President, now virtually assured of a third term nomination, meanwhile moved to solidify Democratic ranks—whether or not he accepts the nomination. His first act, designed to restore friendly political relations with Vice-President John N. Garner, was to inform New Dealers in Texas that he has no desire of contesting the vice president for the Lone Star state's 46 delegates.

CANDIDATES HAVE FIELD DAY AS TRUSTEES MEET

Fifteen candidates seeking office in the May primary election took bows at the Pickaway County Township Trustees' and Clerks' Association dinner at the American Hotel Thursday night.

It was a regular meeting of the association, but because of the closeness to the time of the primaries, all county candidates were invited to attend. Joe Thomas and John Tucker, both of Columbus, who head the legislative committee of the state association, were present and each delivered a brief talk on legislative affairs.

The date of the convention of the Ohio State Township Trustees and Clerks Association has been set for June 13, 14 and 15 in Cleveland, it was announced, James Mowery, Pickaway Township, is the chairman of the county association.

TWO FORFEIT BONDS

Two forfeited bonds of $5 each were turned over to the auditor's office Friday by Squire W. A. Miller of Darby Township. They were posted by Robert E. Howard and Chester L. Betts, both of Columbus, who were arrested on April 4 and March 31 respectively. Both arrests were made by Constable John Stage who charged them both with reckless operation on Route 62.

More Lightning Hinted

Similarly the ever-mounting tension in Sweden as well as in Holland and Belgium—and to a lesser extent in the Balkans—lent color to the belief that the Scandinavian crisis is no more than the fore-runner of another and perhaps more violent bolt of electrical lightning.

While official secrecy still shrouded full details of the fight for Norway, public and expert opinion in England appeared about equally divided on the question whether Sweden and Holland will enter the struggle by drawing the next "unlucky number" in the lottery of war.

Newspaper dispatches indicated that Sweden is fully alive to the possibilities and is taking no chances.

The London News Chronicle said it was reported in Stockholm that Sweden passed the night under an officially ordered "state of alarm" and that all cities were completely blacked out.

Swedish authorities, this account added, mobilized all military and police forces in southwestern and coastal Swedish cities against what were described as "imminent developments of an unknown nature."

The Daily Express said that Swedish forces—soldiers, policemen, firemen and air raid wardens—were standing by at points along the West Coast and that the entire Swedish West Coast from the Norwegian frontier to Malmö was blacked out.

Fear of possible German landings were cited as the reason for these precautions.

Planes Await Orders

Information was reported to have reached Gothenburg that 200 German troop-carrying planes were waiting in Denmark for possible orders.

According to the Express, the state of alarm was ordered at Malmö, Halmstad and Trelleborg, while the airport at Torslunda near Gothenburg was covered with old automobiles and taxicabs to prevent surprise troop landings.

At the same time, Britain anxiously awaited for further word regarding the naval operation still progressing in Scandinavian waters, hoping that they soon would be told that the Allies had wrested Norway from Germany.

Meanwhile they had to be content with the announcement of First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill that four German cruisers and other Reich naval units had been destroyed and that the German fleet had been "crippled."

SMALLWOOD BACK TO PEN

Jerry Smallwood, 27, West Houston Street, was returned to the Ohio Penitentiary in Columbus early Friday after he was arrested by the Circleville police for intoxication which was a violation of his parole. He was serving time at the institution for breaking and entering.

Radio broadcasters probably wish there were a great many more Sumner Welles. He's proven he's a marvelous listener.

The Bomber That Made All Britain Proud

HERE is a giant 25-ton Sunderland bomber, of the type Britain is using for long-range bombing expeditions. Insert shows the machine gunner's nacelle in the ship's tail. All Britain is hailing the feat of the lone Sunderland seaplane which drove off six German Junker bombers, downing two of them. A news reporter was aboard the British ship at the time.

OPEN LETTERS

TO AGRICULTURE DEPARTMENT

AUTHORITIES: Any criticism that might be fired at the Pickaway County Agricultural Society because bingo games were operated during the last Pumpkin Show is entirely uncalled for and without foundation. I understand that the threat has been voiced that future state funds for conduct of the festival might be withheld because of these games. If that is the only reason why the $800 allotment was held up for three months, then it appears that state officials are making a case where there isn't any. Pumpkin Show officials have frowned on gaming in any festival, and by gaming I mean in any shape or form. It just is not permitted. How state officials can hold directors of the Society to task because two private organizations rented their grounds for conduct of bingo games is pretty far-fetched. Circleville's Pumpkin Show has gone on for many, many years; it will continue to operate. But it seems a shame to me if the Department of Agriculture takes any action against the Society because of these games. There are many individuals who protest because Circleville's event is conducted in the uptown streets. Some believe that it should be removed to a rural district. That is what the state would like to have done, and possibly some day that step might be taken, but not now. Pickaway County had a county fair many years ago, and it proved to be a great one, because anything that Circleville and Pickaway County decide to do is done properly. For one reason or another it was broken up, and the Pumpkin Show grew. The Pumpkin Show, state officials can easily learn, is famous not only in this community, but is looked forward to every year by hundreds of persons in many of the surrounding counties. It is tradition, and will exist regardless of opposition. If the $800 state fund is refused it means that the Junior Fair, fast becoming one of the finest events of the show, may be cancelled. This should not be permitted.

CIRCUITEER.

Most folk know that your finances are nil; they just aren't. But there are still persons who believe that miracles can be performed merely by a nod of the head, or a wave of the hand. Streets can't be repaired without money, and that is something that Circleville just hasn't. I hope that ere long you will be able to get to work, and until that time motorists will just have to dodge and duck if they wish to save the springs on their cars from breaking and the tops of their heads from bouncing against the tops of their cars. This situation isn't a good one, but I don't know just what you fellows are expected to do about it.

CIRCUITEER.

TO CITY, COUNTY OFFICIALS

EXECUTIVES: You are face to face with a relief finance problem that would make almost anyone quake who tried to solve it. From just what source money is coming to finance your various relief problems is a question that, I believe, none of you can answer at the present time. Developments in the next week or 10 days may bring a solution, but I doubt even that possibility. Both of you are far in the red and indications are that you will sink deeper as time goes on. The only advice that I can offer is that both of you exercise the utmost economy in an effort to keep the deficits from becoming much graver. With cold weather about ended, demands for fuel should fall off, more labor should be available on surrounding farms, canning factories will be opening up, and other work should be available to help lift the load. The suggestion is made that a real estate tax levy of one and one-half mills be sought in the city and county to alleviate conditions, but doubt exists whether this question could be put on the ballot in time for the primary, or whether it would receive the necessary number of votes if it were attempted. As the matter stands now, the county is without money to care for its relief load; the city is without money and is already in debt by nearly $4,000 to the county for administering aid to its needy. The commissioners want their money because they have their own bills to pay, and they have even hinted that they may turn the city's job of administering aid back to it within the next 30 days. If this step is taken it means plenty of complications and even greater expense to both relief agencies, city and county. A man as wise as Solomon is needed now to advise the officials of city and county which way to turn. I wish he would show up, and soon.

CIRCUITEER.

TO STUDENTS

BOYS, GIRLS: Congratulations today go to all members of the Pickaway County scholarship team and to those seniors who rated so high in the recent state tests. It must mean something to all of you who were selected to represent Pickaway County in the district-state test to be conducted in Columbus. You should feel deep satisfaction at being chosen to take the examinations in the interest of your county, the combined effort of the team to put Pickaway County at the top of all Ohio counties. Marina June Straley, Williamsport senior, who rated at the top of the county's final year students, should feel proud that she scored a 210 grade out of a possible 300 in the recent senior examination. The cream of seniors from all Pickaway County schools participated and her ability to finish ahead of all others should provide her with much pleasure. More success to all of you in your future endeavors for the glory of your schools.

CIRCUITEER.

TO SERVICE DEPARTMENT

OFFICIALS: I have a lot of feeling for you fellows right now and it is all sympathetic. I know that you are pulling at the bit, hoping to get Circleville's street repair project opened as soon as it is possible. Many persons have been protesting concerning the condition of the various streets, and their protests are well based, too, because many of Circleville's streets are so filled with chuckholes that they look like the Nazis have been dropping tiny explosives from the air into them. The winter has done something to them, and it hasn't been anything good.

CIRCUITEER.

There is no question that the European war prolonged a minute beyond what absolutely can't be helped. Nevertheless if it unavoidably IS prolonged spokesmen of both services agreed that it promises to furnish an answer to a much controversial question, of deep concern to sea and air warriors alike. The question is: Because of aviation's development, is sea power now obsolete, or at least obsolescent? Naval experts answer negatively. Their version is that aviation is an important arm, but only as a surface fleet's auxiliary. There are aviation enthusiasts who argue contrariwise.

In the last World war aviation hadn't progressed sufficiently to give the issue much of a test. The present war still is too young to have proved anything at all conclusively. Conversations with seamen and airmen are mutually unconvincing. Naval officers are open to the suspicion of old fogeyishness—or unwillingness to recognize that their profession is out of date. Aviators equally are open to the suspicion that they overestimate the fighting value of the plane.

There's been a lot of experimenting, but experiments are not the real thing.

For instance, the late General "Billy" Mitchell (champion aviator) declared he could sink any ship afloat. An old derelict was tied up off the Virginia Capes for him to operate on, and he sank it all right. However, it was unmanned and at anchor. Surface sailors say he couldn't have done it, had it been dodging around and shooting at him with anti-aircraft guns.

Other airmen have gone up, been shot at and have escaped. The anti-aircraft gunners have had to be mighty careful not to hit 'em, though—for purely experimental purposes.

AVIATION ASHORE

For land operations the plane's possibilities have been fairly fully assessed.

The plane can do a near-infinity of damage and commit an almost unlimited amount of homicide, but it can't land troops in any number, or throw anything worse than a "scare" into the enemy.

Sinking battleships is a different thing.

Battleships are expensive, slow to build and rather scarce.

Planes are relatively cheap, producible quite rapidly, and there are swarms of 'em.

And this war is the genuine article—no mere experiment.

So, the query is:

Can a plane, by a good shot, sink a war vessel? — battleship, cruiser or lesser craft?

GERMANY'S GOT TO DO IT

It's the consensus of expert opinion that Germany's got to be able to do it.

It's conceded, even by Berlin that Der Fuehrer navalistically (speaking on the surface) is out-classed by Britain. But Germany's dope is that the Reich's sea and air power (counting its combined powers) out-rates Britain—taking sea and air power combined.

But how much good is air power?

Which is which?

Is Germany's air power (if any) superior to Britain's undoubtedly superior sea plus air power (whatever it may amount to)?

Our naval-aviation folk would like to know about all this.

It's military educational.

DIET AND HEALTH

Preventing "Gas" in Baby-Feeding

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

How do you manage air swallowing, "burping" and re-gurgitation in infants?

Air swallowing and "burping" go together and are common difficulties. As a matter of fact, air swallowing is probably due in most cases to excessive vigor on the part of the baby rather than an alarming habit. A strong baby sucks voraciously and noisily on the nipple, refusing to allow removal. Soon the vacuum within the bottle equals sucking power of the infant, the formula ceases to flow, air enters the infant's mouth between lips and nipple. Part of this air is swallowed, part enters the bottle and the process is repeated. The distended stomach, filled with air and formula, at first satisfies the infant and he stops nursing before emptying the bottle.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

Unless he "burps," the infant soon has acute discomfort and may show this by flexing thighs on abdomen and crying out, and so disrupts the household. To allow the air bubble to escape from the stomach, the mother holds the infant vertically against her shoulder and pats the infant's back. Chronic air swallowers should be "burped" four or five times this way during each feeding because if not "burped" until the feeding is completed, the baby may bring up much of the feeding along with the air bubble.

The question of the rate of weight gain and development is quite adequate. T. J.: Will you please tell me if eating uncooked oatmeal would have any injurious effect? I started about three years ago and now I eat quite a good deal. I just love it and would rather have it than almost anything else. I have never felt as well in my life and have often felt that my system may need this roughage?"

Answer—For those who are able to stand the roughage, uncooked oatmeal is a good food. Probably not as much of it is absorbed as cooked oatmeal, but enough for nutritional purposes is.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has written pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For "Burping," send 10 cents; for "Regurgitation," send 10 cents; for "Gas," send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, in care of this paper. The pamphlets are "The Burping and Gas Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetics," "Feeding Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

In children who have had an ear infection which has partially subsided but continues to discharge a little bit, one should think of these things:

First, the possibility of associated mastoiditis. In an acute middle ear infection the discharge should diminish in a few days and cease at the end of one to three weeks. If it does not do so and there is persistent temperature and tenderness over the mastoid bone, annoying pain or headache, mastoiditis is almost a certainty and much trouble can be saved by ing the necessity for a simple surgical drainage of the mastoid cells.

Chronic discharge of the ear may be due to neglected acute middle ear infection and often indicates the presence of an infective focus in the throat, at the throat end of the Eustachian tube, from adenoids, tonsils or nasal sinuses. It will subside on removal of the infective focus.

These two causes are in the majority as factors in chronic suppurating ears. Sometimes an overwhelming infection will cause a persistent discharge.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

H. A. B.: "I am bothered at night with an itching on my heels. It seems to start in the evening after dinner. The best I can describe it is that it is like a frostbite. No breaking of the skin, just a dry, tingleitching."

Answer—This is probably due to a circulatory disturbance, either varicose veins or hardening of the arteries of the leg. It may be increased by constriction of the legs from garters or elastic. Also, the shoes should have expert attention.

Diabetes may cause such a condition and, therefore, an examination of the urine for sugar is indicated.

CHAPTER THIRTY-ONE

I COULD think of no better place to hide the box I had stolen from Belzer than under the bed. No matter where else I put it, I could think of a dozen reasons why he might want to look there.

I tried to look calm when I opened the door for him.

"Hi, Butch!" he greeted me jovially. "Nice of you to invite me over. I thought this afternoon that we were enemies for life."

"I didn't invite you over." I reminded him coolly. I was feeling a little uneasy, however. I couldn't stay angry at him. I was going to feel ashamed of myself if he found that box, even though I felt that he, too, had taken it without permission—without Jerry's permission.

"Belzer dropped into my best chair. As usual, he neglected to remove his hat. He carelessly lit a cigarette, held the match uncertainly a moment, then dropped it on the floor. "Now, what's this new angle you've uncovered on Markham?" he asked.

"If I tell you, how do I know you won't use it, and the knife story, too?"

He looked hurt. "I've told you, Butch, I'll use one or the other. And if your new dope is any good I'll probably use it, because I've got the knife story sewed up. No one else knows anything about it."

I couldn't help wondering what he'd do if he knew how wrong he was, but I said, "I can't tell you who killed Alfred Markham, but I do know that there was a drug addict or a dope peddler somewhere in the background."

Belzer sat up. "W-what? Go on!"

"Tony Pappini is an addict." I told him. "He was taken to hospital tonight. I searched his room at the Rio Vista club and in a pocket of his clothes I found this." I held out the small piece of paper with the number "732" written on it.

Belzer studied the paper and frowned. "I don't get it," he said.

"A card with that same number was found in the pocket of Markham after he was killed," I reminded him.

Belzer pulled a notebook from his pocket and thumbed through it. He found the notes he had taken at the inquest. "By golly, you're right."

"Tony Pappini's supply of dope had been cut off," I continued. "Alfred was interested in helping dope addicts. He often told me he wasn't the guy we want!"

"Belzer dropped into my best chair. As usual, he neglected to remove his hat. He carelessly lit a cigarette, held the match uncertainly a moment, then dropped it on the floor. "Now, what's this new angle you've uncovered on Markham?" he asked.

NEWLY-UNIFORMED HIGH SCHOOL BAND PARTICIPATES IN FESTIVAL

MANY JOIN WITH YOUNGSTERS ON MT. VERNON TRIP

New Equipment Paid For With Contributed Funds Arrives In Time For Function

TWO INSTRUMENTS ADDED

Legion Auxiliary Gets Credit For Starting Campaign That Proves Great Success

Circleville High School's band, bedecked in bright new uniforms and scheduled to strut as it has never strutted before, was in Mount Vernon Friday participating in a Central Ohio Music Festival. The band's new suits, bought with money contributed by interested citizens and from proceeds of several functions sponsored by school interests, arrived Thursday. Caps were to come in Friday morning's mail.

Also appearing at Mount Vernon were the band of that city, Upper Arlington and Lancaster, but Circleville youngsters, proud in their new outfits, were expected to be "the finest in the entire parade." Professor C. F. Zaenglein dressed in his new white suit, was like a hen clucking around her flock as the band prepared for its journey at noon. The band director, whose efforts have made Circleville High's one of the best in central Ohio, could hardly wait to get his youngsters in line and ready to turn out music.

The new uniforms are red and black with gold trimmings. The military coat is tailless, trousers have a gold stripe down the side and the red shako is topped with a red pompon.

New Instruments Used

The band includes 52 members in addition to Jane Coville, drum major; Clark Martin and Frank Davis, Jr., flag bearers; Donald Wells, manager, and Professor Zaenglein. Since the band's last appearance two glockenspiels have been added, funds being provided from the money donated for the uniforms. The glockenspiels, played by Ruth Blum and Catherine Betts, will be carried at the front of the band. The new instruments are like lyres with bells. Their addition should add much to the band.

Also included are 15 trumpets, four saxophones, six trombones, five percussions, five altos, nine clarinets, four baritones, two basses.

Guest conductor for the Mount Vernon festival will be William McBride, associated with the Ohio State University music department. The parade was scheduled at 3 o'clock with the concert at 8.

The program to be played by the bands tonight included Colos-march; The Sky Pilot, Laurens, overture; Maytime, Romberg, selection; Chicago Tribune March, Chambers; Hongroise, Scornicka, overture; The Bat, Strauss, selection; Lights Out, McCoy, march. Circleville's crack trumpet trio, including Delbert Puckett, Robert Kilne and Jack Goldsberry, with Ruth Blum as accompanist, will play Sails on a Silvery Sea, by Storm.

Started by Auxiliary

The band uniform campaign was started almost four years ago when the American Legion Auxiliary went on record in favor of the project and started the ball rolling by conducting several functions to result in a pot of $100 being collected. The project remained dormant for a while, but support provided by the Chamber of Commerce started a forward movement again.

In February this year a committee comprised of Ray E. Rowland, chairman, Frank Fischer, Mrs. Allen Thornton, R. G. Colville, Miss Elma Raines, Mr. Zaenglein and Frank A. Lynch organized to plan a campaign that would bring enough money for the uniforms. Never has a project received so much support in Circleville as did the band campaign. Organizations, individuals and firms contributed and a drive that sought $1,250 brought contributions that passed $2,600.

The band's second appearance in its new equipment will be at Lancaster on April 26 at another band festival.

Despite the cold weather many parents and friends of the band members went to Mount Vernon Friday.

FAVORITE DRINKS

LONDON—The favorite drinks of the British armed forces, as noted by a bartender at a famous London hotel are: Navy: Pink Plymouth (gin and bitters); Army: Whiskey and soda or beer; Air Force: Rye Highball (Rye whiskey and ginger ale). Of cocktails those with a gin basis are preferred by all three services, the bartender said.

Light Saving Possible
With such lighting, a huge savings in the Court House light bill is anticipated. The new lamp, which throws a shadowless light due to diffusion and is the color of daylight, has four tubes of 40 watts each. The tubes are guaranteed to last for 2,000 hours.

The Bar Association at its meeting last week strongly urged the use of the new equipment arguing that it will improve the looks of the court room and would save strain on the eyes of persons in the court in the conduct of legal business.

Fluorescent lighting was in the experimental stage just a few years ago and is today being applied to everyday needs.

New Light Equipment Tested At Courthouse

An experimental fluorescent lamp was installed in the second floor lobby at the Court House Thursday awaiting the approval of the County Commissioners who will inspect it Friday night.

The move for fluorescent lighting in the Court House and in the court room was instigated by the Pickaway Bar Association which has been campaigning for better light for some time.

If the approval of the commissioners is obtained, five similar fluorescent lamps will be installed in the court room, one in the Judge Meeker Terwilliger's chamber, one in the office of the court stenographer and a small unit for the judge's bench.

When such installation takes place, the massive chandelier that has been hanging in the court house for many years will be removed as will the familiar lamps on either side of the judge's bench.
